Prescribed Service Discussion: A ridge breakdown event is expected to begin today as a departing thermal trough moves into the Northern Rockies and eastern Idaho and as a cold front moves across the Pacific Northwest. Both convection and breezy conditions are possible with the passage of this front though the convection will be limited mostly to the Northern Rockies. Existing fires may be pushed by the expected breezy conditions, especially in the open spaces where fine fuels dominate. Hot and dry conditions are expected from the central Great Basin south to the Mexican Border and isolated monsoonal convection is expected in the Four Corners. A low pressure area located over the southeastern Great Plains will allow for scattered storms to continue to develop across East Texas and the Deep South. The Great Lakes and New England will remain warm and dry with seasonal temperatures expected.

\title{
Uninformed on Strategy,
}

Tactics, or Hazards
Operational Engagement

Firefighters who are uninformed on strategy, tactics, or hazards are in conflict with Watchout Situation #5. Before going to the fireline, it is imperative that firefighters obtain information about strategies, tactics, or hazards by asking themselves the following questions:
- Can communications be established to find out strategy, tactics, or hazards? Discuss ways you might establish communications; for example, contacting someone who is already on the fire and asking them what tactics and strategies are working or not working, what hazards they have witnessed, etc.
- Can scouting safely identify potential hazards? Talk about different methods of scouting a fire (e.g., using a lookout from your crew or sending a line scout ahead, utilizing air attack or the spotter on a smokejumper airplane). Discuss what types of hazards you might come across and ways you would mitigate them. For example, arriving at a fire after dark and a being instructed to dig line downhill with the fire below. How could you make this a safe situation?
- Have strategies, tactics, or hazards changed since last informed? Discuss situations that might alter the way you are fighting a fire (e.g., wind shifts, resources you expected don't arrive, etc.). Also, think about what new hazards can develop while you are on the fireline (e.g., roots burning out and trees coming down, winds shifting direction and speed, etc.)
- Can you get a briefing from your supervisor? Talk about the importance of constant communications and ensuring firefighters are on the same page with strategies and tactics. For example, if one crew decides to do a burnout, but doesn't let the crew at the other end of the line know what they are doing, then what can happen?
- To reduce the risks:
- Post lookouts.
- Determine escape routes and establish safety zones.
- Consider retreating until you are informed.
- Don't leave a staging area or operational briefing until you have all the pertinent information. Emphasize ways to inform firefighters about strategies, tactics, and hazards. Tell a story about when you were uninformed and what you did to correct the situation so that you were safe.
- Use the Incident Response Pocket Guide standard briefing
